Mick,

Yes, that would be great. I understand that since the soybean and cotton residue tolerances are still in place, this PRIA action will not require the full evaluation normally associated with an additional food use.

Thanks,

Jeff

Jeff,

Thanks for the quick response. Do you want me to set-up the discretionary refund evaluation?

Mick,

Thanks for the full review of the BASF's existing PRIA credits. Please utilize the existing BASF credits to pay the required $83,317 PRIA fee for the submitted R170 action.

Appreciate the help. Have a good one,

Jeff

Dear Dr. Birk,

Your PRIA receipt letter is attached. The staff in the Registration Division has assigned PRIA code R170 to the Eugenia Herbicide application. BASF has sufficient old, unused PRIA payments to cover the R170 fee of $83,317 (see below). Also, BASF may request that a discretionary refund evaluation be made when a decision is made on this application. Please either authorize the use of the payments below or make a sufficient payment to cover the R170 fee and, if desired, request the discretionary refund evaluation at the conclusion of the application review process. Thanks.
